Fire crews were dispatched to a Great Lakes Calcium Corporation warehouse, 1400 Bylsby Ave., at 2 a.m. for a report of smoke and flames on the roof. It took three hours for crews to get access to the area of the fire — a section of the warehouse with offices — and two more hours to fully extinguish the flames.

Most of the damage is internal, because the concrete and steel exterior of the building resisted damage, said Lt. Nick Craig of the Green Bay Fire Department. The cause of the fire is under investigation, although it doesn't appear to be deliberate.

The last workers left the building at about 11 p.m. Friday, Craig said.
